

I strongly oppose allowing cell phone usage on commercial air flights. As has already been proven in every other area of American public life, cell phone users do not pay attention to any sort of etiquette. Air travel is already unpleasant enough. If cell phones are allowed on planes, I will make every effort to avoid flying.